

ABSTRACT

A pulse laser generates a pulse train. A modulator receives the pulse train and a data signal. The modulator encodes the data signal onto the pulse train by selectively passing pulses.